Nevada Sunrise Gold Corp terminates agreement to sell Kinsley Mountain property

Nevada Sunrise Gold Corporation (NSGC) announced today that it has terminated the agreement dated July 16, 2008, as amended February 23, 2009 (the "Agreement"), with Kinsley Resources Inc. ("Kinsley"), for the sale of the Kinsley Mountain property to Kinsley. Kinsley was required to make monthly payments of $50,000 each month. Kinsley defaulted on its May 1 and June 1, 2009 payments. Accordingly, NSGC terminated the Agreement

The Kinsley Mountain property, consists of 141 unpatented mining claims and is located in Elko County, Nevada. Known gold mineralization, described as a Carlin-type gold deposit, occurs on the property within sedimentary rocks including limestone. Several other gold discoveries have recently been made in eastern Nevada in this same geological setting.

Nevada Sunrise Gold Corp CEO, Bill Henderson, noted, "We are disappointed that the sale of Kinsley Mountain will not proceed. However, we believe Kinsley Mountain is a valuable asset, and will now proceed to examine the best manner in which to advance this project, in addition to our other properties, Golden Arrow, Juniper and Iron Point."
